INTERACTIVE AUDIENCE VOTING

Imagine polling your audience in the middle of a meeting for their input, and then instantly viewing a graph of the results.

'Qwizdom' is an Interactive Voting system that allows you to engage and involve all students and participants in a real-time dynamic presentation format.

Each participant gets their own hand-held 'Qwizdom' and answers questions using that device. The results are then displayed real-time in a PowerPoint format and dynamically included in your presentation (answers can be anonymous or hidden, questions can be yes/no, true/false, multiple choice or a rating scale and results can be displayed as graphs or statistical data).

Benefits:

- Track performance for more effective learning. Use end of unit questions to track the participants understanding of what has just been presented.
- Enhance PowerPoint presentations. Include questions as part of your presentation and display instant results for a more interactive classroom environment.
- Get instant feedback on presentations. Allow participants to anonymously give immediate feedback on the presentation.
